COMMENTARY

2024 will be remembered as one of the most difficult years for active investors, irrespective of their investment style. Whilst the market delivered fair positive absolute returns for many, most found it difficult to compete with popular indices. This can be ascribed to the popularity of a few large capitalization technology driven stocks that dominated index performance. The AI theme played a major role in the strong performance of the majority of these stocks.

In addition to this, the market was largely supported by the US economy and corporate earnings continuing to deliver above expectations, perceptions that US inflation is under control and the US election outcome.

Against this, potential US trade tariff implications have raised new fears for inflation, interest rates and global trade war risks later on. Jerome Powell's caution around further cuts reinforced this dynamic. December saw some profit taking following the strong November performance, with an uncommon weak overall market for the month. The best contributors to fund performance over December were Alphabet, Amazon and LVMH. Amazon continues to benefit from margin expansion, while positive perceptions around Alphabet's AI, their quantum computing chip and driverless car capabilities are growing strongly. LVMH, along with other luxury stocks, bounced from a weak November and constructive US holiday period sales. The largest detractors to performance were UnitedHealth, Eaton, and Adobe. UnitedHealth suffered from the assassination of their health care divisional CEO and regulatory fears.

Eaton sacrificed its November gains, while Adobe shareholders were disappointed with management providing a lower than expected outlook. The best contributors to performance over the full year were Amazon, Netflix and Alphabet. The Fund's strong positioning on the Fourth Industrial Revolution keeps delivering (Amazon and Alphabet). Despite Netflix being a relatively new addition to the fund, its strong advertising income outlook was well received by the market. Amongst the holdings, L'Oréal, Adobe and LVMH were the largest detractors from performance over the year. L'Oréal and LVMH continue to suffer from the weak Chinese consumer market, while Adobe's uncertain outlook was penalised.

PAST PERFORMANCE SHOULD NOT BE USED AS A GUIDE TO FUTURE PERFORMANCE

⁴ The Investment Management Fee is included in the Total Expense Ratio ("TER") and is not in addition to the TER. The TER expresses the overall costs of running the Stonehage Fleming Global Best Ideas Equity Fund (the "Fund") as a percentage of the value of the assets of the Fund. It comprises the Investment Management Fee and other additional charges including, but not limited to, the charges of the Manager, Administrator, the Custodian, the Directors and any appointed Paying Agent as well as regulatory, company secretarial, statutory, auditing, listing, Governmental and legal costs. It does not include portfolio transaction costs ("TC")⁵. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. Transaction Costs are a necessary cost in administering the Financial Product and impacts Financial Product returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Financial Product, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The Total Investment Charges ("TIC")⁶ comprise both the TER and the TC.*

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE

1	2	3	4	5	6	7
					6

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time.
- The lowest category does not mean 'risk free'.

The risk and reward profile is based on the A share class.

The risk and reward indicator demonstrates where the Fund ranks in terms of its potential risk and return. The higher the number the greater the potential reward but the greater the risk of losing money. The above ranking is based on research of how such investments have performed in the past and you should note that the Fund may perform differently in the future.

The Fund is in risk category 6 due to its level of exposure to equity investments, the prices of which can go down as well as up.

Investors may not get back their original investment.

The Fund is subject to risks which are not included in the risk reward indicator calculation:

A change to the Fund's tax status or the applicable tax legislation in the markets within which the Fund invests could affect the value of an investor's shares.

The Fund may be exposed to credit and counterparty risks in relation to securities and counterparties it invests in and with whom it transacts.

The Fund may encounter difficulties in disposing of assets at their fair price due to adverse market conditions leading to limited liquidity.

These are the principal risk factors which may affect the performance of the Fund. If you would like more information before you invest, please consult the most recent full prospectus. The rights and duties of the investor as well as the legal relationship with the Umbrella Fund are laid down in the full prospectus.

*From 1 January 2022 to 31 December 2024, 1.31% of the value of class A, 0.81% of the value of class B, 1.31% of the value of class C, and 0.81% of the value of class D, was incurred as expenses relating to the administration of the financial product. 0.01% of the value of the financial product was incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the assets underlying the financial product. Therefore, 1.32% of the value of class A, 0.82% of the value of Class B, 1.32% of the value of Class C and 0.82% of the value of Class D was incurred as costs relating to the investment of the financial product.

RISK FACTORS

Stonehage Fleming Global Best Ideas Equity Fund (the "Fund") is an equity fund. Investors should be willing and able to assume the risks of equity investing in particular, fluctuations in market price, adverse issuer or market information and the fact that equity securities rank below other corporate securities, including debt securities, in right of payment in the event of issuer insolvency. The value of the Fund's portfolio changes daily and can be affected by changes in currencies, interest rates, general market conditions and other political, social and economic developments, as well as specific matters relating to the companies in whose securities the Fund invests. The Fund may hold a relatively small number of stocks as compared to many other funds. This may make the Fund's performance more volatile than would be the case if it had a more diversified investment portfolio.

Changes in the rates of exchange between currencies may cause the value of investments to go up or down in the reporting currency. In general, underlying investments denominated in foreign currency are not hedged back into the reporting currency. Among the factors that may influence currency values are trade balances, the levels of short-term interest rates, differences in relative values of similar assets in different currencies, long-term opportunities for investment and capital appreciation and political developments. Values may also be affected by developments relating to controls and restrictions on foreign currency remittance of proceeds of investments in a non-sterling jurisdiction.

All investments risk the loss of capital. No guarantee or representation is made that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. The value of investments may go down as well as up and the distributions can also go down or up and you may not receive back the full value of your initial investment. The risks outlined here are some of the more specific risks applicable to investment in the Fund and investors' attention is drawn to Appendix II of the Prospectus which provides more information on the types of risk factors investors should consider.

Whilst every effort is made to provide investors with accurate and up to date information, some of the information may be rendered inaccurate by changes in applicable laws and regulations. For example, the levels and bases of taxation may change. No information in this document should be interpreted as investment advice. If you feel unsure about the suitability of this investment for you, please consult with a professional financial adviser.

Collective Investment Schemes are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Collective investment schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending.

The portfolio may include foreign investments and the following additional risks may apply: liquidity constraints when selling foreign investments and risk of non-settlement of trades; macroeconomic and political risks associated with the country in which the investment is made; risk of loss on foreign exchange transactions and investment valuation due to fluctuating exchange rates; risk of foreign tax being applicable; potential limitations on availability of market information which could affect the valuation and liquidity of an investment. All of these risks could affect the valuation of an investment in the fund.
