FUND COMMENTARY

The US reporting season for the fourth quarter of 2025 delivered a strong result, with Revenue +9% and Earnings +12% (in USD terms). Despite this, the S&P 500 underperformed the Rest of the World during the month. This underperformance is mainly ascribed to two factors:

- The particularly high level of capital expenditures the AI related hyperscalers announced for this year (an increase of over two-thirds on 2025) unnerved the market, negatively affecting these large S&P 500 constituents.
- The continual release of new products by new AI vendors, and specifically Anthropic, has caused huge fears of potential moat disruptions for many businesses and a flight out of many software and data-management related stocks.

Large sell transactions in these types of stocks were implemented during the month. It appears the proceeds from these transactions were mainly diverted to non-Tech related sectors and caused a broadening out of the market into various other sectors without particular fundamental drivers.

The largest contributors to Fund performance over the month were GE Aerospace, Linde and Safran. They all benefit from the above-mentioned broadening out theme. Further to this, both GE Aerospace and Safran continue to benefit from strong structural demand for aerospace turbines. Safran announced in February a stronger than expected set of operational results. Linde announced a stable result, with the stock rerating to above-average valuation levels in the broadening out backdrop.

The largest detractors from Fund performance were S&P Global, Alphabet and Amazon. S&P Global has a data business unit (called Market Intelligence) which some fear may be vulnerable to AI disruption. Their management has commented that over 95% of group revenue is derived from proprietary data. Alphabet announced a particularly strong set of results, confirming its Search and AI leadership. Amazon also announced stronger than expected results, with both stocks suffering from the capital expenditure uncertainties.

3 These are the highest or lowest consecutive 12-month returns over a 10 year period (or since inception where the performance history does not exist for 10 years). This is a measure of how much the Fund's returns have varied per rolling 12-month period. The Fund's highest annual return occurred during the 12 months ended 31 January 2020 and The Fund's lowest annual return occurred during the 12 months ended 31 December 2022.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

A Feeder Fund is a portfolio that invests in a single portfolio of a collective investment scheme which levies its own charges, and which could result in a higher fee structure for the feeder fund.

This document has been issued by Stonehage Fleming Investment Management (South Africa) (Pty) Ltd (authorised and regulated in South Africa, FSP No: 42847) and by Stonehage Fleming Investment Management Ltd (authorised and regulated in the UK by the FCA: 194382, and in South Africa by the FSCA, FSP No: 46194).

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CIS's are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Manager. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors in order for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. Forward pricing is used. The Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TER's. During the phase in period TER's do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It
