COMMENTARY

The Fund celebrated its 10 year anniversary this month, launched with the global financial crisis in full swing back in October 2008. Those were scary times and there have been a few more since then – Fukushima & European crisis in 2011, fears of a Chinese economic slowdown in 2012 and 2015, the US Government shutdown in 2014 and Brexit referendum, to name but a few. Yet over the past over the past 10 years, the Fund has still compounded at 10% per annum in USD, ahead of inflation, the MSCI World index and 3 % per annum ahead of the average global equity fund which places the fund in the top 5% of peers. What this hopefully illustrates is that even in dark days, there are always pockets of value that each crisis provides and which as Global Investors, we can take advantage of and profit from over the medium term. The greatest concern for investors are not pullbacks but recessions because recessions lead to lower corporate earnings and therefore lower profits. Bear markets occur mostly during recessions. The good news is that the latest comments and earnings reports from the companies we hold are positive. None are talking of a recession.

The fund substantially out-performed the market and most peers during the month but with every sector negative, there were no places to hide and NAV declined. Even the “least bad” sectors (utilities and consumer staples) offer, in our view, very few attractively priced investment opportunities. Walgreens and Kroger led the charge to a positive contribution from our Consumer Staples holdings. Thankfully our significant under-weight position in technology holdings relative to the index and peers assisted in the out-performance. However out of adversity comes opportunity and our cash holdings declined as we invested at lower prices. Some welcome news post month end was the bid by the Canadian company, Encana, for one of our holdings, Newfield Exploration. Newfield is a small but fast growing US oil and gas producer which fell sharply during the month off the back of a pullback in the oil price. We revisited the investment case and convinced of the company’s prospects and valuation (at 6x earnings), doubled our position to a 1.9% position shortly before month end. Thankfully we weren’t the only ones to spot the value and subsequent to month end, Encana, announced a bid at a 25% premium to the market price. This once again highlights that rather than fearing weak markets, we should embrace them, for they can sometimes yield great opportunities. The year is not over yet but sentiment is very weak and equity markets have a habit of surprising consensus. With the weighted average multiple of your fund’s holdings at 10x forward earnings (World index 14x), together with forecast growing earnings, we feel very positive about the prospects for positive returns over the medium term.

The Morningstar Rating is an assessment of a fund's past performance – based on both return and risk – which shows how similar investments compare with their competitors. A high rating alone is insufficient basis for an investment decision. For each fund with at least a three-year history, Morningstar calculates a Morningstar Rating based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a fund's monthly performance (including the effects of sales charges, loads and redemption fees), placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of funds in each category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a fund is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five- and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics.
