FUND COMMENTARY

Whilst new US employment numbers have dropped materially over the past few months, the US economic fundamentals remain constructive. The long awaited first Fed cut this year in September, with further meaningful reserves for further cuts, is perceived to be leading to lower interest and mortgage rates in the US. Historically, the US market has delivered strong returns in the year following a Fed cut with the stock market close to a new record level.

Despite the high second quarter base of US corporate earnings, consensus expectations for S&P 500 earnings are currently accelerating, at a level of +10.6%. This positive earnings outlook is supported by, amongst other, strong capital expenditures in the US, at a level of +15% for S&P 500 constituents.

The best contributors to performance over the month were ASML, Alphabet and Amphenol. Whilst their operations are all technology related, their individual performances are more company specific. ASML's recovery off a low base was triggered by announcements of the US government, Nvidia and Softbank buying stakes in Intel, an ASML customer. Alphabet benefitted from the DoJ ruling that they can keep their Chrome business and continue with their Apple search arrangement – though on an annual contract basis only. Amphenol benefitted from an announcement of another large acquisition (CommScope's Connectivity & Cable Solutions) and general optimism on datacentre growth.

The largest detractors from performance were S&P Global, L'Oréal and Copart. General uncertainty about the potential effects of AI on data providers is affecting investor sentiment on S&P Global. L'Oréal gave back some of its strong performance in August. Whilst Copart declared a strong earnings result, its topline growth decelerated further, fuelling fears that they may continue to lose market share to their largest rival (IAA).

RISK AND REWARD PROFILE¹⁰

- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time.
- The lowest category does not mean 'risk free'.

The risk and reward profile is based on the A share class.

The risk and reward indicator demonstrates where the Fund ranks in terms of its potential risk and return. The higher the number the greater the potential reward but the greater the risk of losing money. The above ranking is based on research of how such investments have performed in the past and you should note that the Fund may perform differently in the future.

The Fund is in risk category 6 due to its level of exposure to equity investments, the prices of which can go down as well as up.

Investors may not get back their original investment.

The Fund is subject to risks which are not included in the risk reward indicator calculation:

A change to the Fund's tax status or the applicable tax legislation in the markets within which the Fund invests could affect the value of an investor's shares.

The Fund may be exposed to credit and counterparty risks in relation to securities and counterparties it invests in and with whom it transacts.

The Fund may encounter difficulties in disposing of assets at their fair price due to adverse market conditions leading to limited liquidity.

These are the principal risk factors which may affect the performance of the Fund. If you would like more information before you invest, please consult the most recent full prospectus. The rights and duties of the investor as well as the legal relationship with the Umbrella Fund are laid down in the full prospectus.

RISK FACTORS

Stonehage Fleming Global Best Ideas Equity Fund (the "Fund") is an equity fund. Investors should be willing and able to assume the risks of equity investing in particular, fluctuations in market price, adverse issuer or market information and the fact that equity securities rank below other corporate securities, including debt securities, in right of payment in the event of issuer insolvency. The value of the Fund's portfolio changes daily and can be affected by changes in currencies, interest rates, general market conditions and other political, social and economic developments, as well as specific matters relating to the companies in whose securities the Fund invests. The Fund may hold a relatively small number of stocks as compared to many other funds. This may make the Fund's performance more volatile than would be the case if it had a more diversified investment portfolio.

Changes in the rates of exchange between currencies may cause the value of investments to go up or down in the reporting currency. In general, underlying investments denominated in foreign currency are not hedged back into the reporting currency. Among the factors that may influence currency values are trade balances, the levels of short-term interest rates, differences in relative values of similar assets in different currencies, long-term opportunities for investment and capital appreciation and political developments. Values may also be affected by developments relating to controls and restrictions on foreign currency remittance of proceeds of investments in a non-sterling jurisdiction.

All investments risk the loss of capital. No guarantee or representation is made that the Fund will achieve its investment objective. The value of investments may go down as well as up and the distributions can also go down or up and you may not receive back the full value of your initial investment. The risks outlined here are some of the more specific risks applicable to investment in the Fund and investors' attention is drawn to Appendix II of the Prospectus which provides more information on the types of risk factors investors should consider.

Whilst every effort is made to provide investors with accurate and up to date information, some of the information may be rendered inaccurate by changes in applicable laws and regulations. For example, the levels and bases of taxation may change. No information in this document should be interpreted as investment advice. If you feel unsure about the suitability of this investment for you, please consult with a professional financial adviser.

Collective Investment Schemes are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests or the investment may go down as well as up. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Collective investment schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending.

The portfolio may include foreign investments and the following additional risks may apply: liquidity constraints when selling foreign investments and risk of non-settlement of trades; macroeconomic and political risks associated with the country in which the investment is made; risk of loss on foreign exchange transactions and investment valuation due to fluctuating exchange rates; risk of foreign tax being applicable; potential limitations on availability of market information which could affect the valuation and liquidity of an investment. All of these risks could affect the valuation of an investment in the fund.

¹⁰ From 1 January 2021 to 31 December 2023, 1.32% of the value of class A, 0.82% of the value of class B, 1.32% of the value of class C, and 0.82% of the value of class D, was incurred as expenses relating to the administration of the financial product. 0.01% of the value of the financial product was incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the assets underlying the financial product. Therefore, 1.33% of the value of class A, 0.83% of the value of Class B, 1.33% of the value of Class C and 0.83% of the value of Class D was incurred as costs relating to the investment of the financial product.
