Investment Philosophy

Aeon Investment Management's equity investment style is Growth At a Reasonable Price (GARP) and modelling Implied vs. Sustainable Growth. We also utilise our in-house Currency Model for foreign asset allocation and the Fear & Greed Index for ap-propriate protective structure overlays. Aeon Balanced Prescient Fund's investment strategy encompasses active asset allocation and active management of underlying equity and fixed income assets. The fund has diversified sources of alpha (GARP SA Active Equity, GARP Global Equity, Diversified Income).

Investment Objective

- Return target of CPI +5%
 - Inflation-beating returns by investing in the full spectrum of domestic and foreign equity and fixed income markets
 - Provide investors with stable income and modest capital appreciation in the long run
 - Manage risk through disciplined portfolio construction
 - Employ low-cost trading techniques
- The portfolio has adhered to its fund objectives.

Fund Performance Review & Market Commentary

The Aeon Balanced Prescient Fund was down by 5.43% on a net return basis for the first quarter of 2026 and is up by 14.30% over a one-year period.

The first quarter of 2026 was characterized by a transition from early optimism to heightened volatility as global markets were reshaped by significant geopolitical conflict. While the year began with a focus on artificial intelligence (AI) and the potential for monetary easing, the outbreak of conflict in the Middle East in late February fundamentally altered the economic outlook. This event led to a historic surge in energy prices, with Brent crude jumping 77% in March to approximately $125/bbl, the largest monthly increase in four decades.

The South African market demonstrated relative resilience early in the quarter, supported by a strong February National Budget that cut debt issuance and highlighted fiscal progress. However, the JSE All Share Index ultimately finished the quarter down 0.6% in Rand terms as the global risk-off environment intensified in March. The Resources sector rose 7.2%, buoyed by precious metals and mining counters, while Industrials (-8.7%) and Property (-4.9%) lagged. The Rand weakened against the U.S. Dollar, closing the quarter at R17.00/$, driven by a stronger dollar and South Africa's position as a net importer of crude oil. The MPC held the repo rate steady at 6.75%, though it warned of potential hikes if energy-driven inflation persists.

In contrast, global equities experienced a weak quarter, as the MSCI World Index declined 3.6% in USD terms, while the S&P 500 ended the quarter down 4.3%, its weakest quarterly performance since 2022. Beyond geopolitical risks, U.S. markets faced a sharp rotation away from mega-cap technology and software stocks as investors scrutinized AI-related capital expenditure and its potential to disrupt software business models.

The energy shock also recalibrated global interest rate expectations. Major central banks held rates steady in March while adopting a more hawkish tone to combat upside inflation risks stemming from higher commodity prices. Consequently, global government bonds experienced a sell-off, with the Bloomberg Aggregate Bond Index declining 1.1% for the quarter.

Looking ahead, we expect asset class returns to continue to be driven by geopolitical volatility, energy prices, and the AI revolution. We remain anchored to our Growth at a Reasonable Price (GARP) philosophy to look through the noise, prioritizing businesses with resilient long-term earnings potential and strong balance sheets that can deliver sustainable returns, independent of short-term market turbulence.

As a key fund highlight, we feature Discovery Ltd, which has held a longstanding high conviction position within our fund. Discovery is a pioneering global financial services group, best known for its proprietary Vitality shared-value model embedded across insurance and banking. For years, the market discounted Discovery on several concerns – the uncertainty surrounding National Health Insurance (NHI), perceived maturity of the health business, and aggressive investment in Discovery Bank. Leveraging our GARP philosophy, we identified the market's low expectations which underestimated Discovery's growth potential. The Group subsequently delivered an exceptional performance, with headline earnings surging 29% for the first half of their 2026 financial year. Discovery Bank emerged as a standout success, now serving over 1.4 million clients, swinging from a prior-period loss to a R75 million profit, demonstrating the significant operating leverage of its digital-first infrastructure. Critically, we believe the market continues to underestimate Discovery's ability to compound growth as the bank scales and the Vitality platform deepens its global reach.

Disclaimer

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CIS's are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Manager. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors in order for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. Forward pricing is used. The Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TER's. During the phase in period TER's do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Where a current yield has been included for Funds that derive its income primarily from interest bearing income, the yield is a weighted average yield of all underlying interest-bearing instruments as at the last day of the month. This yield is subject to change as market rates and underlying investments change.

The Manager retains full legal responsibility for any third-party-named portfolio. Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio there may be potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political risks, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

Below are fund specific risks:

Default risk: The risk that the issuers of fixed income instruments (e.g. bonds) may not be able to meet interest payments nor repay the money they have borrowed. The issuers credit quality is vital. The worse the credit quality, the greater the risk of default and therefore investment loss.

Derivatives risk: The use of derivatives could increase overall risk by magnifying the effect of both gains and losses in a Fund. As such, large changes in value and potentially large financial losses could result.

Developing Market (excluding SA) risk: Some of the countries invested in may have less developed legal, political, economic and/or other systems. These markets carry a higher risk of financial loss than those in countries generally regarded as being more developed.

Foreign investment risk: Foreign securities investments may be subject to risks pertaining to overseas jurisdictions and markets, including (but not limited to) local liquidity, macroeconomic, political, tax, settlement risks and currency fluctuations.

Interest rate risk: The value of fixed income investments (e.g. bonds) tends to be inversely related to interest and inflation rates. Hence their value decreases when interest rates and/or inflation rises.

Property risk: Investments in real estate securities can carry the same risks as investing directly in real estate itself. Real estate prices move in response to a variety of factors, including local, regional and national economic and political conditions, interest rates and tax considerations.

Currency exchange risk: Changes in the relative values of individual currencies may adversely affect the value of investments and any related income.

Geographic / Sector risk: For investments primarily concentrated in specific countries, geographical regions and/or industry sectors, their resulting value may decrease whilst portfolios more broadly invested might grow.

Derivative counterparty risk: A counterparty to a derivative transaction may experience a breakdown in meeting its obligations thereby leading to financial loss.

Liquidity risk: If there are insufficient buyers or sellers of particular investments, the result may lead to delays in trading and being able to make settlements, and/or large fluctuations in value. This may lead to larger financial losses than expected.

Equity investment risk: Value of equities (e.g. shares) and equity-related investments may vary according to company profits and future prospects as well as more general market factors. In the event of a company default (e.g. bankruptcy), the owners of their equity rank last in terms of any financial payment from that company.

The investor acknowledges the inherent risk associated with the selected investments and that there are no guarantees. Please note that all documents, notifications of deposit, investment, redemption and switch applications must be received by Prescient by or before 13:00 (SA), to be transacted at the net asset value price for that day. Where all required documentation is not received before the stated cut off time Prescient shall not be obliged to transact at the net asset value price as agreed to. Funds are priced at either 15:00 or 17:00 depending on the nature of the Fund. Prices are published daily and are available on the Prescient website.

Performance has been calculated using net NAV to NAV numbers with income reinvested. The performance for each period shown reflects the return for investors who have been fully invested for that period. Individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestments and dividend withholding tax. Full performance calculations are available from the manager on request.
