FUND COMMENTARY

The Portfolio has followed and complied with its policy objective.

In the final quarter of 2025, the Benguela Global Equity UCITS Fund (BGEUF) achieved a gross USD return of 2.6%, trailing the 3.3% total return of the MSCI All Country World Index (ACWI) benchmark. For the full calendar year of 2025, the BGEUF returned 26.4%, which was ahead of the 22.3% total return of the ACWI.

Global equity markets delivered modest gains in the fourth quarter as investors navigated ongoing macroeconomic complexity and more selective risk appetite. While corporate earnings broadly met expectations, positive revisions slowed and market leadership narrowed, with greater emphasis placed on balance sheet strength and earnings resilience. The MSCI All Country World Index rose 3.4% in USD terms, with the S&P 500 gaining 2.7% as US equities faced tighter financial conditions. Emerging markets outperformed, rising 4.8%, supported by strength in commodity-exporting economies, though this was partly offset by weakness in China, where concerns around domestic demand and the property sector persisted. Commodity markets drove dispersion, with strong gains in copper and gold contrasting with declining oil prices.

The underperformance of the fund in the quarter came as certain trends that benefited in past quarters, briefly reversed. In Healthcare, the underexposure to pharmaceutical manufacturers detracted from performance as regulatory pricing risk abated. In Industrials, the overweight to defence contractors saw some consolidation, whilst the fund was underexposed to the heady build-out of AI infrastructure. Within Financials, the fund is underweight developed market banks which are benefiting from reduced regulation and resurgent investment banking fees. These negative effects were partly offset by strong performance from the overweight in gold miners, alongside a 29% return from key holding, Alphabet, on recognition of its AI capabilities.

Portfolio management outlook

Market performance in 2025 has been strong across key regions and themes, leaving valuations more demanding than a year ago. However, lower interest rates and ongoing fiscal support should continue to underpin asset prices. The fund remains focused on identifying attractive valuation opportunities while preserving portfolio quality and diversification. We remain underweight the US on valuation grounds and expect this positioning to persist until more compelling entry points emerge. In contrast, we see attractive opportunities in selected emerging markets and expect exposure to increase. The portfolio maintains disciplined exposure to AI growth while avoiding speculative areas, and remains constructive on real assets. Overweights to gold and defence provide additional risk protection amid elevated geopolitical uncertainty.

Below are the quarterly asset allocation changes:

% Property Risk: Investments in real estate securities can carry the same risks as investing directly in real estate itself. Real estate prices move in response to a variety of factors, including local, regional and national economic and political conditions, interest rates and tax considerations.

Geographic / Sector Risk: For investments primarily concentrated in specific countries, geographical regions and/or industry sectors, their resulting value may decrease whilst portfolios more broadly invested might grow.

Liquidity Risk: If there are insufficient buyers or sellers of particular investments, the result may lead to delays in trading and being able to make settlements, and/or large fluctuations in value. This may lead to larger financial losses than expected.

Equity Investment Risk: Value of equities (e.g. shares) and equity-related investments may vary according to company profits and future prospects as well as more general market factors. In the event of a company default (e.g. bankruptcy), the owners of their equity rank last in terms of any financial payment from that company.

DISCLAIMER

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not a reliable guide to future performance. CIS's are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Manager. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. Forward pricing is used. The Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TER's. During the phase in period TER's do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Performance has been calculated using net NAV to NAV numbers with income reinvested. The performance for each period shown reflects the return for investors who have been fully invested for that period. Individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestments and dividend withholding tax. Full performance calculations are available from the manager on request. Prices are published daily and are available on the Prescient Global Funds website.
