QUARTERLY FUND COMMENTARY (AS OF Q3 2025)

South African equities delivered another strong quarter of returns in Q3. The JSE All Share Index was up 12.9% and the Top 40 rose by 13.7%, both supported by strong performance from gold mining stocks, reflecting the impact of surging gold prices and a weaker US dollar. The rally was highly concentrated, with gold and PGM miners, as well as Naspers and Prosus, contributing most index gains. These names accounted for 26.6% of the JSE All Share Index's 31.7% return year-to-date, representing 84% of the total gains, with gold alone making up 43% of the overall performance this year. Conversely, Industrials and Financials lagged, returning 4.2% and 0.9% for the quarter, respectively. This concentration made it a challenging environment for diversified active managers. Unless portfolios were heavily overweight the handful of top-performing resource stocks, it was extremely difficult to keep pace with the index.

A similar dynamic has been true in the US, where S&P 500 returns have been largely driven by a small group of mega-cap technology stocks known as the "Magnificent 7". This concentration of gains has made it challenging for most active US (and global) equity managers to outperform the index.

For us, this concentration raises important questions about the sustainability of returns and the risks involved, particularly how indices might respond if current market leaders face a sharp reversal. Our approach remains deliberately diversified, with a strong focus on capital preservation and risk management rather than chasing short-term performance, helping ensure portfolio resilience across varied market conditions.

Although short-term macroeconomic indicators remain encouraging, structural headwinds continue to overshadow the longer-term outlook. These challenges include muted global growth, sluggish reform progress, persistently low business confidence, low investment activity, and underlying fiscal vulnerabilities.

At the same time, the shifting political landscape, including coalition politics and ongoing reform, remains a key factor for investors to monitor. South Africa's political and economic environment remains challenging, with the Madlanga Inquiry possibly exposing further corruption, and political interference in the SAPS, eroding confidence in the ANC and raising calls for reform. Still, structural reforms, especially the upcoming "GAIN" strategy, are progressing (albeit slowly), and recent data show some economic resilience.

From a portfolio standpoint, select holdings continued to deliver outsized contributions to quarterly performance. Globally, the pivot toward global emerging markets yielded compelling absolute returns, buoyed by evolving investor sentiment and further supported by a softer US dollar backdrop. Additionally, the global value sleeve sustained its momentum, outperforming both on a year-to-date basis and over the trailing 12 months. Domestically, our passive equity allocation captured the upside in South African resources, while some of our local managers' positioned in this sector amplified gains.

Looking ahead, while macroeconomic tailwinds and ongoing local reforms provide reasons for optimism, we remain vigilant to the risks posed by market concentration and political uncertainty. As stewards of client capital, our approach remains anchored in diversification and disciplined risk management, ensuring portfolios are positioned for long-term value creation.

Highest & Lowest Return: The highest and lowest returns for any 1 year over the period since inception have been shown.

NAV: The net asset value represents the assets of a Fund less its liabilities.

Alpha: Denoted the outperformance of the fund over the benchmark.

Sharpe Ratio: The Sharpe ratio is used to indicate the excess return the portfolio delivers over the risk free rate per unit of risk adopted by the fund.

Max Gain: Largest increase in any single month

FUND SPECIFIC RISKS

Default Risk: The risk that the issuers of fixed income instruments may not be able to meet interest payments nor repay the money they have borrowed. The issuers credit quality is vital. The worse the credit quality, the greater the risk of default and therefore investment loss.

Interest Rate Risk: The value of fixed income investments (e.g., bonds) tends to be inversely related to interest and inflation rates. Hence their value decreases when interest rates and/or inflation rises.

Derivatives Risk: The use of derivatives could increase overall risk by magnifying the effect of both gains and losses in a Fund. As such, large changes in value and potentially large financial losses could result.

Derivative Counterparty Risk: A counterparty to a derivative transaction may experience a breakdown in meeting its obligations thereby leading to financial loss.

Property Risk: Investments in real estate securities can carry the same risks as investing directly in real estate itself. Real estate prices move in response to a variety of factors, including local, regional, and national economic and political conditions, interest rates and tax considerations.

Geographic / Sector Risk: For investments primarily concentrated in specific countries, geographical regions and/or industry sectors, their resulting value may decrease whilst portfolios more broadly invested might grow.

Equity Investment Risk: Value of equities (e.g., shares) and equity-related investments may vary according to company profits and future prospects as well as more general market factors. In the event of a company default (e.g., bankruptcy), the owners of their equity rank last in terms of any financial payment from that company.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CIS's are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Manager. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors in order for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. Forward pricing is used. The Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TER's. During the phase in period TER's do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

The Manager retains full legal responsibility for any third-party-named portfolio. Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio there may be potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic risks, political risks, foreign exchange risks, tax risks, settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information. The investor acknowledges the inherent risk associated with the selected investments and that there are no guarantees. Please note that all documents, notifications of deposit, investment, redemption and switch applications must be received by Prescient by or before 13:00 (SA), to be transacted at the net asset value price for that day. Where all required documentation is not received before the stated cut off time Prescient shall not be obliged to transact at the net asset value price as agreed to. Funds are priced at either 3pm or 5pm depending on the nature of the Fund. Prices are published daily and are available on the Prescient website.

Performance has been calculated using net NAV to NAV numbers with income reinvested. The performance for each period shown reflects the return for investors who have been fully invested for that period. Individual investor performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestments and dividend withholding tax. Full performance calculations are available from the manager on request.
