

Investment Objective

The portfolio maintains a medium to high risk profile with a maximum equity exposure of 75%. The portfolio adheres to the guidelines set by Regulation 28.

Investment Strategy

The Oribi Growth Prescient Fund of Funds aims to deliver moderate to high long-term total returns through a diversified mix of asset classes. The Fund allows for limited tactical shifts in asset and geographic allocation to respond to changing market and economic conditions, while remaining fully compliant with applicable legislation.

Quarterly Fund Commentary

Moderately aggressive investors achieved strong returns in the fourth quarter of 2025, supported by broad-based gains across asset classes. The year showed early signs of rotation, with ex-US equities and local assets standing out. We continue to see opportunity wherever discounts exist. Size, style, or growth labels matter less than the key question: can we assess an asset's value and buy it for less? This disciplined approach underpins long-term success. While markets have risen steadily since the 2022 lows, periods of calm often precede volatility, making portfolio positioning critical. Additionally, the rand's appreciation over the quarter served as a headwind to global allocations, dampening strong offshore returns in rand terms.

The Portfolio remains diversified in terms of its exposure to different asset classes, and we remain confident in its ability to deliver inflation-beating returns over the long term, regardless of market conditions.

Asset Allocation

Local equities posted strong returns for the quarter, supported by broad-based gains across asset classes. The FTSE/JSE All Share Index gained +8.1% in rand terms during the quarter, bringing the full-year return to +42.4% - the strongest annual performance since 2005. The Financials sector led quarterly gains, rising +18.9% in Q4 and ending the year +27.1% higher, with ABSA, Nedbank, FirstRand and Standard Bank among the key contributors. The Resources sector also maintained strong momentum, climbing +10.3% over the quarter and finishing the year up an impressive +126.0%, supported by notable performers such as AngloGold Ashanti, Harmony Gold and Sibanye Stillwater, all of which rose more than +50% in Q4. In contrast, the Industrials sector fell -1.2% over the quarter, weighed down by retail stocks such as Foschini, Pick n Pay and Truworths, although the sector still posted an admirable +18.1% gain for the year. The Property (+16.3%) sector delivered strong returns over the quarter. Global equities posted positive returns in Q4 2025, closing a year shaped by significant crosscurrents. Non-US markets led decisively: international stocks gained over 32% in 2025, emerging markets rose +34%, and the US lagged by one of the widest margins in nearly 20 years. Since 2006, the US has trailed both developed and emerging markets in only five calendar years, and double-digit underperformance against both was last seen in 2006. A weaker US dollar amplified foreign asset returns for US-based investors, but currency alone doesn't explain the shift - prompting the question of whether signals point to sustained leadership. Expectations for US earnings are now elevated, with some forecasts pricing -17% growth - near record highs. Even modest downside surprises could drive disappointment, whereas lower starting valuations abroad provide greater room for error. South African bonds (+9.0%) delivered strong returns over the quarter, subsequently delivering the best calendar-year return (+24.2%) since 1999.

The strong bond market was supported by the Rand, which recorded its first annual gain against the US dollar in six years. Key factors driving this performance included improved prospects for fiscal consolidation, the reduction of the inflation target to 3% and a favourable global backdrop, all of which contributed to pushing the local yields lower across all maturities. Global fixed income reinforced its value as a portfolio diversifier. US bonds returned over 7% in 2025, their best year since 2020, though tight credit spreads imply limited compensation for incremental credit risk. This backdrop favours active, flexible bond management.

Looking ahead, bonds benefit from two key tailwinds: materially higher starting yields than five years ago - historically a strong predictor of long-term bond returns - and a clear pivot in monetary policy. The Fed delivered three rate cuts in 2025, including two in Q4. Based on CME (Chicago Mercantile Exchange) data, markets are currently pricing two further cuts in 2026, though expectations will evolve with incoming data. The stronger rand acted as a headwind to the performance of offshore allocations.

Fund Selection

The contribution from fund selection was mixed over the quarter.

Fairtree SA Equity delivered strong performance over the quarter, outperforming their benchmark and delivering top quartile performance relative to the peer group. The funds overweight positions to Financials and Resources were the main contributors to performance over the quarter. The funds overweight holdings of Northam Platinum (+20.0%) and Glencore (+14.4%) were the main relative contributors from the Resources sector over the quarter, while the overweight positions in Sanlam (+17.8%), Nedbank (+24.7%) and Remgro (+11.1%) were the main relative contributors to performance from the Financials sector over the same time period.

PSG Equity delivered strong absolute performance over the quarter, outperforming its composite benchmark and delivering second quartile performance relative to the peer group. The funds allocations to the Resources and Financials sectors contributed positively to performance over the quarter. Within Resources, the funds holdings in Barrick Mining Corp (+28.1%), Northam Platinum (+20.0%) and Glencore (+14.4%) were the main contributors to performance, while holdings in Discovery (+16.6%) and Absa Group (+32.2%) were the main Financials contributors.

Ninety One Diversified Income delivered strong performance in the fourth quarter, generating returns well ahead of its STEFI Composite benchmark as the fund benefitted from strong returns from the SA bond market over the period. The fund placed in the top quartile of its peer group in the fourth quarter. It has an overweight duration position, and continues to view nominal bonds as its favoured asset class. The fund benefitted from this as local bonds rallied following positive news from the official change in the SA inflation target to 3%, a ratings upgrade from S&P Global, and a constructive Medium Term Budget Policy Statement delivered by Finance Minister Enoch Godongwana.

The Nedgroup Investments Global Emerging Market Feeder Fund produced strong returns and a first quartile performance over the fourth quarter, as emerging markets gained 0.64% (MSCI Emerging Market Index). Performance was driven by strong stock selection in semiconductor and memory chip manufacturers. SK Hynix Inc (+75.34%) and Samsung Electronics (+54.26%) were the primary contributors, benefiting from strong demand for high-bandwidth memory chips driven by AI applications. Acton Technology (+56.4%) also added value. However, Chinese technology holdings were detractors. Alibaba Group (-21.23%), Tencent Holdings (-13.26%), and Taiwan Semiconductor (-12.60%) weighed on returns.

The fund fully exited its position in Ninety One Global Franchise FF, reduced allocations to local equity (Fairtree SA Equity Prescient and 10X S&P SA Top 50 B), and trimmed its holding in Nedgroup Inv Global EM Equity FF. The proceeds were used to seed and allocate to Oribi Global Growth Prescient AMETF, an actively managed ETF with a strong U.S. large-cap and technology bias.

Summary

We are pleased that the Portfolio delivered a good return over the fourth quarter, with most major asset classes posting positive returns over the quarter. We remain comfortable with the positioning of the Portfolio, both from an asset allocation and a manager selection perspective. The Portfolio continues to be allocated to a diverse range of attractively priced local and global asset classes. We are confident that it will be able to deliver on its objective over the long term. The fund adhered to its policy objectives.

Disclaimer

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (CIS) should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. CIS's are traded at the ruling price and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. The collective investment scheme may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio to bridge insufficient liquidity. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the Manager. There is no guarantee in respect of capital or returns in a portfolio. A CIS may be closed to new investors in order for it to be managed more efficiently in accordance with its mandate. CIS prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (brokerage, STT, VAT, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee and custodian fees and the annual management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of participatory interests (units) in issue. Forward pricing is used. The Fund's Total Expense Ratio (TER) reflects the percentage of the average Net Asset Value (NAV) of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TER's. During the phase in period TER's do not include information gathered over a full year. Transaction Costs (TC) is the percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts Fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

A Fund of Funds is a portfolio that invests in portfolios of collective investment schemes, which levy their own charges, which could result in a higher fee structure for these portfolios.
